

TOP CONSUMER TIPS FOR A FAILED EMISSIONS TEST

What should you do if your vehicle fails its emissions inspection?

Check for warranties, recalls, and technical service bulletins regarding the emissions control system.

Have a diagnostic analysis performed on the vehicle.

Choose a repair facility. Check out the RepairWatch Public Report, available on the Georgia's Clean Air Force website.

Ask the mechanic to complete the Emissions Repair Form after repairs are complete.

Take the Emissions Repair Form to the original inspection station for a free retest within 30 days of the original test.

To learn more, visit www.cleanairforce.com.

